Classroom-

A place we came with fear, but will leave with tears.

A place where true friendship blossoms, making life awesome.

A room filled with innocence,
but leaving with a meaning of essence.

The place where we were taught life's lessons, which would change our misguided vision.

It's not just a classroom,
It's an emotion.

A room with memories full,
which were never dull.

A heartfelt goodbye to the room, which let us bloom.

Committee: DISEC II - Disarmament and International Security Council

Portfolio: UKRAINE

A two days education based and filled environment was very exiting and helpful to me. I enjoyed so much getting along with other delegates and talking to them about international matters made me feel very corporate and unique. I got to know many new things from others and it was very useful as well. The hospitality was excellent. The logistics were very helpful and made me feel comfortable. I really loved the campus because it was greener than what I thought. These simulations will help us think broadly, understand current affairs and act accordingly. The other delegates also helped me as it was my first time. I got know how people are well educated and are experts in the language they use. The Executive Board was also very prompt and humble because our committee was mainly of first timers. I think this is a beautiful opportunity to get exposed and learn something new. I want to thank our director ADOPA mam and our Principal SHARMILA mam as well as the School management for providing a golden opportunity to broaden our knowledge. Wholly a complete package of learning with experience.

Thankyou

Participating in the Model United Nations as a 10th grade student was one of the most memorable event in my school life. As a young girl and a first-timer stepping into a room full of experienced speakers, I initially felt nervous. By the end of the event, I walked out with confidence and unforgettable memories.

I represented the country, Islamic Republic of Iran in a committee, United Nations Security Council discussing the impact of Private Military Security contractors and foreign military bases on global security. I had to research on complex topics, understand country's stance and its foreign policy. The research process taught me how to organize my ideas in a clear manner.

Throughout the sessions, I learned how to form alliances, write resolutions and participate in moderated and unmoderated caucus. I think, I also improved my listening skills.

MUN helped me grow personally. I actually felt proud to speak on global issues. I gained courage, awareness and a deep passion for global affairs.

I am truly grateful for the opportunity given by my institution and my parents. Thank you.

My MUN experience

Participating in Model United Nations was one of the most joyful experiences of my academic and cultural journey. Representing the Republic of Iceland in SOCHOM Committee, I explored the theme "Addressing the global Rise of Digital Authoritarianism and Protecting Human rights in the age of surveillance."

At first, I was nervous - walking into a room full of delegates who spoke confidently and raised strong motions. But soon, I found my voice. I gave first GSI and proposed a mod, and even questioned other delegates during the debate. With every speech, I grew confident, passionate and made my presence felt in the Committee.

MUN taught me not just about global issues, but also about diplomacy, leadership and the power of words. I learned to defend my country's position, draft resolutions with other nations, and most importantly I learned to respect everybody's perspectives. It was like stepping into the shoes of real UN representatives.

What I will cherish the most is the team work, energy and the tension while raising the motions and find global solutions, and also the friends, not more just three but had a lot of fun along the journey.

This MUN has made me to pay interest in international affairs and human rights. And above all it reminded me that even one voice when used right, can make a difference.

Even though, first day was boring and sleepy, the second day was just amazing, at the end of the MUN I felt that saying "It could have been extended for another two days" that is the impact of MUN on me. It was just like a "wow" !....

MUN 2025 INTER SCHOOL COMPETITION - EXPERIENCE

Participating in Model United Nations was truly one of the most unforgettable experiences of my student life. It wasn't just about debates and rules - it was about discovering a new side of myself.

I saw a different me over there - someone who was bold, confident, and ready to speak. From raising motions to presenting speeches, I stepped far outside my comfort zone and surprisingly, I enjoyed every bit of it.

One of the best parts was meeting students from different schools. Everyone brought unique perspectives and styles. Despite being from different backgrounds, we all connected through respectful discussions and shared curiosity. We became friends, shared thoughts, supported each other and even took pictures together - memories I never thought I'd make in such a serious setting. Our chair was so special, she gave us equal opportunities to everyone and made sure every voice was heard, she never made them feel small.

The journey began with research, preparation and a lot of nervous excitement. I had to understand the politics deeply, think critically and be ready to defend my opinions with facts & logic. Speaking in front of others and participating in moderated and unmoderated caucuses helped me grow more confident.

MUN taught me: that our voice matters, no matter how small that confidence comes from trying, even when unsure that support and friendship can come from unexpected places, and most importantly, that I am capable of more than I ever imagined.

It wasn't just a school event. It was a journey of growth, self-discovery. Can't wait for the next MUN - this time, aiming for victory!

delegates, especially a few experienced delegates, including the Delegate of Russia and France, who impressed me with their confidence and their leadership skill and inspired me to improve myself.

After this experience, I am definitely interested in participating in more MUNs. It helped me grow in ways I never expected and has become a memory I will always cherish.

Participating in my first MUN as the Delegate of Denmark in the WHO committee was an incredible experience. I was very nervous going into the experience and was almost prepared for the worst - I thought maybe I wouldn't speak at all. But once the sessions started, I slowly gained confidence to participate, and I ended up speaking in multiple moderated caucuses, which became my favorite aspect of the conference.

The best part was when I quoted a statistic - "1 in 5 people suffer mental health issues in conflict zones" and the Delegate of Russia questioned it citing "1 in 7 adolescents." At the time, I was embarrassed that I didn't have a source and wanted to feel a lot more confident. However, in the break, I quickly searched the applications I had on my phone and found that my statistic was indeed correct on the official WHO website. When I said it in front of the committee, the Chair supported me. That made me feel like I can believe in myself.

I learned so much from the MUN I didn't only learn about Denmark or the WHO, but also public speaking, researching, diplomacy - so much. I learned a lot from other
